Introduction

Grimes Finance is a cryptocurrency on the Polygon network, which was created with true humanitarian goals. Our goals are not limited to a specific geographical area and will cover the world. This currency you are reading the white paper of (Grimes Finance) is the result of more than two years of detailed research and tests on different blockchains. After a long period, we chose one of the previous codes that we created on the Polygon network.

You might wonder why we didn't use a separate and dedicated blockchain. Here we examine the reasons:

- Reducing the costs of buying, selling, and transferring Grimes on the Polygon network with a custom EIP.
 - Polygon is carbon neutral, with plans to be climate positive.
 - Saving energy by not providing a new blockchain, because there is any need to create a separate blockchain.
 - Creating a coin instead of a token means imposing unnecessary costs on people.
 - To help people, a real humanitarian idea is the most fundamental part of that project, while many crypto projects seldom benefit the real lives of many people.
